

NEWS FROM Mrs. Dravet

October 2ND

Reading/Language Block

We read an excerpt from the book Island of the Blue Dolphins. This story is filled with beautiful imagery that helps us visualize and understand the story. We then looked at how the author uses imagery to create a mood or tone for the story. The class has been working hard on their tall tales. They will have time in class next week to work on their papers, as well.

Math

We are finishing our study of estimating, rounding, and multiplying with decimals. Next week, we take the Unit 2 test on Thursday. A study guide will go home so your child knows what to expect.

You must do the things you think you cannot do.

Eleanor Roosevelt

Science

The class was introduced to visible light and light waves this week. Next week they will use mirrors and lens to figure out how light travels. The test over this material will be on October 9th.

Sign-up for Parent-Teacher conferences begins on Friday, October 9th at noon. Please sign up early for the times most convenient for you. I look forward to seeing you again at that time, and please feel free to contact me earlier if you have any questions or concerns.
